

General licensing agreement (LA) conditions for Internet Services

The translation of the LA in English is available at <https://www.kros.sk/licencne-podmienky>. In case of differences between the English or other foreign-language versions, the Slovak language version shall prevail.

1. These licensing agreement conditions (hereinafter also referred to as "LA") are a contract that specifies the terms and conditions for the use of the software and applications connected to the Licensee's computer systems via the Internet which might include a wireless network. Licensee's use consents to the transmission of standard device information for Internet or wireless services.
2. The Service Provider is KROS a.s. with a registered office at Bytčická 9009/14, Žilina, ID No.: 31635903, registered in 10564/L (hereinafter also referred to as the "Provider").
3. If the contracting party is a purchaser who is not a consumer, the relations of unadjusted terms and conditions of the LA shall be governed by Act No. 513/1991 Coll., the Commercial Code, as amended. If the contracting party is a consumer, relations not governed by the terms of the LA shall be governed by Act No 40/1964 Coll., the Civil Code, as amended, and Act No. 250/2007 Coll., on Consumer Protection, as amended.
4. The General Terms and Conditions of the Internet Services of KROS a.s. apply to the following products: OMEGA - double-entry bookkeeping, ALFA plus - simple bookkeeping, KROS Attendance, KROS HR system, CENKROS 4 and CENEKON and TSP database files, API Connector, KROS Platform, CLOUD, Fushky, ELIS - automatic document processing, KROS Invoicing, KROS Tax Returns, MyJob, Construction Progress, KROS Dimensions, Construction Projects, KROS Construction Budget, KROS Warehouse, Stavario App, KROS Digital Office and ONLINE Price List Database.
5. Installation and usage rights. Consent to a contractual relationship whereby the Provider grants the Licensee a limited, non-transferable, and non-exclusive license to use the Service. The Licensee does not thereby acquire any rights associated with the copyrighted work.
6. Rules of Conduct. The content, material, or activities violating LA are not allowed. The Licensee will use Services, Applications and act only under applicable law. The Licensee shall not publicly display and store inappropriate content and materials, and shall not intentionally circumvent any restrictions on access to the services and applications or their availability, engage in activities that are detrimental to the Provider and the operators of the applications, services and third-party services, and unauthorized sharing of copyrighted materials.

The Licensee shall use the Service and the Application in a manner that prevents unauthorised access to his or her account by a person who is not authorized to do so, and shall take all measures to avoid login data and password leakage, otherwise he/she shall be liable for any damage caused thereby to the Provider, the Licensee or third party.

7. The license coverage: The license is for the period for which the service and the application have been paid for by the Licensee (the period of the service validity) and shall terminate upon the expiration of the period of the service and application or the termination of the provision of the service and termination of the service or application.
8. Termination of the License: The Licensee is entitled to terminate the Service and Application at any time. Provider shall be entitled to terminate or restrict the provision of the Service and the Application to the Licensee if the Licensee violates the LA, violates the Rules of Conduct in Section 6 of the LA, violates the Provider's copyrights, is inactive for at least 2 months without a valid service, damages the Provider's reputation, allows the use of the service and application by another unauthorised person, or fails to communicate under good manners and fair dealing principles of cancellation of the service, the Provider is entitled to irretrievably remove the content and all data created by the Licensee in the application and the service.
9. Copyright: The subject matter of the LA, including subsequent modifications and changes thereto, is a work within the meaning of the provisions of Act No. 185/2015 Coll., the Copyright Act, and therefore the work shall enjoy protection under the provisions of this Act. All copyright belongs to the Provider. The Licensee undertakes not to modify through the Service, delete, remove, or in any other way interfere with the work.

The Licensee acknowledges that by using the Provider's software, the Licensee is obliged to acquaint himself with the software license agreement. Using the Software, the Licensee agrees to the software license agreement, which takes precedence over the LA.

10. Price and payment terms: The price of the service and applications are governed by the valid price list issued on the web Provider's website. Access to the Service and the Application is conditional upon payment of the price for use with the and the Application, and at the same time, upon the settlement of any outstanding liabilities of the Licensee. Upon cancellation of the service and applications, the price paid is not refundable. By completing an order, the consumer, as the Licensee, acknowledges and agrees that at the time of activation of the license or use of the electronic content in question, he/she has no right to withdraw from the contract in the statutory 14-day period and agrees to the provision of this content before the expiry of this period. The consumer as the Licensee shall be duly and timely notified of the impossibility to withdraw from the contract. The Provider and the Licensee were, at the time of the activation of the license, or the use of the electronic content in question, notified and agreed that there shall be no refund for any payments for services while provisioning such content by the Provider. Provider shall have the right to refuse to refund any payment for services in case such content is provided to the Licensee.
11. Electronic invoicing: The Provider and the Licensee agree that the Provider is entitled to send invoices to the Licensee in electronic form. Electronic invoices shall be sent to the Licensee in standard format (e.g. pdf) and they shall be considered as full invoices replacing paper invoices form. The Licensee grants the Provider permission to send invoices in electronic form in accordance with the provisions of § 71 (1) (b) of the VAT Act as amended, either by sending the invoice electronically in electronic mail or by sending a web interface - via the link of the electronically prepared invoice (hereinafter referred to as the electronic invoice). The Provider shall send the electronic invoice to the Licensee in such a way that the Licensee receives it at latest 7 days before the due date or already having been as a proof of payment. The Provider and the Licensee acknowledge that the data made available in the electronic invoice sent to the e-mail address specified by the Licensee are subject to commercial confidentiality and that they are obliged to treat them as confidential.

The Provider shall not be liable for a breach of a business secret if the breach is due to its leakage from the mailbox associated with the e-invoice email address of the Provider or because of leakage from the Licensee's Internet application. Provider shall not be liable for data corruption or data incompleteness where the corruption or data incompleteness was caused by a failure in the communication path when using the internet. Furthermore, the Provider shall not be liable for damages resulting from the customer's poor-quality connection to the Internet network causing faults in the communication route to the Licensee or as a result of any inability of the Licensee to access the Internet. Notwithstanding the Licensee's acknowledgment of receipt of an e-mail message containing an electronic invoice, the date of the relevant electronic invoice shall always be deemed to be the first business day following the date after being demonstrably sent the electronic invoice by the Provider via electronic mail.

Should the Licensee not receive an invoice from the Provider even by the end of the period for which the Licensee is liable to pay the invoiced payment, the Licensee shall inform the Provider in writing. This goes without biasing the Provider's right to send electronic invoices otherwise than periodic electronic invoices by e-mail. To deliver electronic invoices, the Licensee shall notify the Provider of the e-mail address, in writing (electronically), to which the Provider will send electronic invoices at the time of signing the contract. The Licensee shall be responsible for the full functionality of the e-mail address so notified. Any change of the e-mail address for the delivery of electronic invoices shall always be notified in writing (electronically as well) by the Licensee to the Provider in advance. This goes without biasing the Provider's right to send a paper invoice to the Licensee.

12. Limitation of liability: The Provider isn't responsible for the errors having occurred as a result of improper using the internet services, computer software, services, and applications (e.g. deletion, overwriting, virus infections), furthermore, for errors caused by a third party or an event for which the third party is responsible or for errors caused by an unavoidable circumstance. Accordingly, the Provider is not liable for the accuracy of the data and data results obtained in specific cases of use, if they are quite obvious, i.e. errors that can be detected by the usual checking of the overall procedure. This condition applies if they were caused by an error in the computer software, applications, services, and internet services as well.

The Provider is not liable and is not obliged to provide service or technical support in the event of any defects arising from a breach of duty by the Licensee or the Licensee's duties violation of LA, in applicable law, due to non-compliance with instructions.

The Provider shall provide the Services and the Applications continuously, except for necessary downtimes due to their updating or service interventions by the Provider, which shall be notified to the Licensee on its website, social networks, or by e-mail.

13. Cooperation of the Parties: The Licensee is obliged to offer to the Provider cooperation in provisioning technical support and/or maintenance services, especially in reporting malfunctions and other defects without undue delay and other defects in the services provided. The Licensee is obliged to provide all information relating to the malfunction or information requested by the Provider. If the Licensee acts to remedy or prevent defects, he shall comply strictly with the Provider's instructions.

In case the Licensee breaches the duty to provide proper cooperation as was required of him under the provisions of the LA, other provisions of the contracts, or applicable law, the Provider shall not be remedying the defect, and the Licensee shall not be entitled to make any claim against the Provider for failure to remedy the defect in such a case. At the same time, the Licensee shall indemnify the Provider against any damages arising from the breach of this obligation. Suppose a defect in the provision of the service or in the performance related to that was caused or caused by the Licensee, or a person authorised by him. In that case, the Licensee shall be obliged to compensate the Provider for any damage incurred.

14. Governing law: The parties agreed that all disputes arising out of the contract being concluded with them, the related documents and by-laws or related contracts, including non-contractual claims, shall be decided before the General Arbitration Court of the Slovak Republic, Dunajská 8, 811 08 Bratislava, with the final decision of one arbitrator appointed by the arbitral tribunal under the internal rules of the arbitral tribunal, with the possibility of a trial under Act No. 244/2002 Coll., § 22a(1), to which the parties expressly agree. The current version of the Statute of the Arbitral Tribunal and the Rules of Procedure of the Arbitral Tribunal is issued on the website http:// www.vrssl.sk/. Address for the arbitral tribunal's electronic communication: podatelna@vrssl.sk. The parties declare that they conclude the contract based on their free and solemn will, they have read the contract, have acquainted themselves with its contents, and understand it.
15. The Provider reserves the right to change the LA and the price list of services. The current LA and price list are issued on the Provider's website www.kros.sk. New LAs will be issued no later than 1 day prior to the effective date. The new price list will be issued no later than 14 days prior to the effective date. If the Licensee continues to use the software and service, the Licensee agrees to the change in the LA. The Licensee's disagreement with the change of the LA is a reason for the termination of the contract and the Provider shall be entitled to terminate the service without refund made to the Licensee.
16. Validity and effectiveness of the LA: These LAs shall come into force and effect on 01.10.2024 and shall remain in force until the issue of new licence terms and conditions.

The following specific terms and conditions supplement the LAs for the individual services, applications and platforms.

ELIS Service - Automatic Document Processing

1. The Licensee is entitled to transfer data (extract data) between the software and the application to the extent and for the period allowed by the service.
2. The conditions of use of the service as well as the price list are issued on the Provider's website.

KROS Digital Office service

1. The KROS Digital Office application provides the Licensee recording of accounting documents – receipts, and incoming and issued invoices via the Licensee's Internet connection on the Provider's website to the extent and for the period allowed by the service.
2. The Licensee might create records by adding data or scanning receipts via QR code. A readable record is subsequently created From the scanned data.
3. The Licensee can import the records created into the Provider's computer software called OMEGA - double-entry bookkeeping and ALFA plus - simple bookkeeping.
4. The licensee importing the records into the Provider's computer software called OMEGA - double accounting, ALFA plus - simple accounting, shall record data which also contains an attachment in PDF, JPG formats, PNG, where the record is then moved to the digital archive section. Additionally, the Licensee acknowledges that the documents in the digital archive section are immutable. A record of the name of the person who archived the document and the date of the date of archiving is saved for each attachment.
5. The Provider reserves the right to change the scope of the licenses provided and the Application functionality, which are the subject of the contractual relationship, and shall inform the Licensee thereof.
6. The Licensee is obliged to proceed with the use of the Application in such a way as to prevent unauthorised access to his account by an unauthorised person and shall take all measures to avoid login data and password leakage, otherwise, he/she shall be liable for any damage caused by this to the Provider or a third party.
